NO. 237—EIGHTY-FIRST YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1939 EIGHTEEN PAGES

MAIN DANGER POINT OF FLOOD IS MOVED TO CAMPBELL RIVER

Roaring Stream Threatens Safety of Deserted Homes of Upper Island—Hundred-Foot Stream Now Mile Wide—Fighting to Save Bridge Near Alberni

By The Canadian Press
A DOZEN evacuated homes tottered on the brink of a roaring stream last night (Thursday) as the main danger point in Vancouver Island's flood picture shifted from Courtenay and Zeballos to Campbell River.

The rain-swollen stream after which the latter town is named gorged huge undercuts in its bank and families who yesterday were hurried from their homes in Campbellton, settlement on the bank of the river north of the main part of the town, feared the buildings would be undermined and borne down stream.

J. E. Rogers, postmaster, said the stream, which normally is about 100 feet across, has spread over an area a mile wide and risen more than seven feet.

SITUATION "PLENTY BAD"
"The situation is plenty bad," Rogers said. "I have lived here for twenty years and never before seen the river as high."

He said that all the stores and houses in Campbellton were surrounded by water but that buildings near the Campbell River Wharf were not in danger.

A log jam twenty-five miles up the river was dynamited yesterday when it was feared it might endanger a highway bridge.

R. L. Haigh-Brown, president of the Campbell River Board of Trade, said the situation was "plein bad."

STOPS SHIP AT WARNING SHOT

American Captain Reports Being Halted by Canadian Vessel in North

SEATTLE, Nov. 16 (AP)—A United States ship captain reported on his arrival today from an Alaskan trip that a Canadian naval vessel had fired a shot across the bow of his ship, the North Coast, off Prince Rupert.

Capt. A. J. Borkland, master of the ship, which carried seventy-six passengers and a crew of seventy-five, said the incident occurred because the officer of the Canadian vessel thought the United States vessel did not stop quickly enough when ordered to do so.

Borkland explained that though he thought it was necessary to keep the Northland Transportation Company's steamship moving to safeguard against groundings, but he stopped the ship immediately at the warning shot.

He added he had reported, upon departure from Juneau, that he was going to stop at Prince Rupert.

DESCRIBES INCIDENT
"When we arrived off Prince Rupert," he declared, "we were halted by a Canadian Government vessel and asked what we were doing here."

"When I told the officer I had reported I would arrive there, he ordered me to stop and hold international signal code flags No. 2 and No. 9. I ordered the flags brought up, but as the vessel was in dangerous waters, I kept her moving for stowage way to prevent grounding."

"Before the flags arrived, the Canadian vessel fired a shot across the bow of the ship and I brought her to a full stop."

COME FROM FAR TO ENLIST IN FORCES

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (AP)—Men came from far off to enlist in His Majesty's fighting forces and one of those from out of the way places is Richard Bennett, a young Englishman who reached Ottawa today from Venezuela to join the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Mr. Bennett, continued on to England to "join up." They left Vancouver some time before five o'clock on the voyage, killing some 100 people.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The advance guard of the Canadian Expeditionary Force arrived in London tonight. It consists of nine officers charged with strengthening the existing Dominion military offices in this country.

The group, headed by Colonel P. J. Montague, of Winnipeg, will lay the groundwork for the Canadian organization of medical services, paymaster's office, supply and transport and quartermaster's office.

They were accompanied by fourteen non-commissioned officers of long experience who will be clerks in the new offices.

Colonel Montague's title will be chief administrative officer and assistant adjutant quartermaster-general.

OTHER OFFICERS
Other officers are Col. J. H. McQueen, of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, who will be ordnance officer; Lieut.-Col. R. M. Lutton, of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, in charge of medical matters; Major M. H. S. Penhale, deputy assistant adjutant-general, also in general charge of the staff; Major M. B. WIND SCATTERS TIMBER BOOMS

Hundreds of Tugboats Are Cruising Straits to Retrieve Lost Logs

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (AP)—Hundreds of tugboats cruised British Columbia Coast waters today in search of log booms smashed by high winds and heavy seas of the past seven days. It was estimated some 6,000,000 board feet of logs were scattered over Hecate and Georgia Straits.

Thirty-six boom sections, each containing about 30,000 feet, were broken up off the mouth of the Fraser River and scattered across the Sandheads Shoals and as far south as Point Roberts. A large fleet of small tugs has been busy for several days collecting the logs and operators believe 75 per cent of them will be recovered.

Another twenty sections of booms were broken up off Grief Point and scattered in the Strait of Georgia and along the East Coast of Vancouver Island.

Two huge Davis-rafts of Sitka spruce, each containing about 2,000,000 board feet, were lost on Hecate Straits when the tugboat Morgan was caught by a gale several days ago. Operators believe the logs will be a total loss, having been scattered far up the British Columbia Coast.

Scouting Patrols at French Front Engage in Typical Encounter

Parties Operating All Along Line in Spite of Bad Weather—Quiet Hamlet Becomes Alive With Battle Starting in Street

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE MAGNOT LINE, Nov. 15 (CP-Havas).—Despite bad weather scouting patrols by both sides in no man's land continued to operate today along the entire Rhine-Meuse front.

Characteristic of these reconnaissance expeditions, in which roving platoons often come in contact with each other by surprise and fight a short but vigorous battle, was a clash after midnight yesterday morning in a deserted hamlet east of the Black River.

WIDELY SEPARATED
The opposing lines at this point were widely separated. The object of the reconnaissance was little more than a double row of one-story stone houses forming the single street of the village. These buildings have

About twenty French soldiers armed with pistols, sub-machine guns, rifles and grenades, set out for their objective through a zig-zagging wilderness of barbed wire. The men were forced to go single-file through the narrow lane, walking Indian fashion, with each soldier holding onto the man before him.

France Strengthening Internal Unity—Allied Triumph Seen as Assured

PARIS, Nov. 16 (CP)—With bad weather reducing military operations to their lowest ebb since the beginning of the war, officials acted here today to strengthen France's internal unity for a long struggle toward what two prominent speakers warned must be a just and lasting peace.

As authorities took further measures against the banned Communist Party, a Government spokesman gave an accounting of the factors assuring an Allied triumph while influential editors hinted this victory might eventuate in a European federation of states, with supremacy in the German community shifted from Berlin to Vienna.

HITLER SEES HIS FATE
The Government spokesman was Edmund Miellet, Radical-Socialist chairman of the Chamber of Deputies Army Committee, and a former cabinet minister, who told the nation in a broadcast that after two months of war Adolf Hitler "sees the fatal circle closing in on him."

"The editor was Vladimir D'Oresmaire, who writes on French affairs for Le Temps and Le Figaro, and is one of France's best-known commentators on international affairs.

Addressing a luncheon of the American Club of Paris, he said the drafters of the Versailles Treaty thought they "erected a dike against Hitler."

TENSION EASES IN HELSINGFORS

Many Persons Return to Capital—Finnish Loan Oversubscribed

HELSINGFORS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Relaxation of tension was noticeable in Finland's capital tonight for the first time since Russia, more than five weeks ago, presented this little republic with proposals for territorial changes.

A number of English residents who left for the countryside at the height of anxiety over the Finnish-Russian negotiations are returning to the capital, and so also are many Finns, although the Government has not encouraged such action.

The Cabinet met for an hour and discussed with party leaders the suspended Moscow peace talks, which some Finnish circles consider closed now unless reopened by the Russians with new proposals.

A defence loan of 50,000,000 marks (about $8,300,000) oversubscribed today by 10,000,000 marks.

Netherlands Less Scared Of Invasion

BRUSSELS, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—The Netherlands Government, indicating abatement of the invasion scare gripping the Low Countries last week, officially advised Belgium tonight that Wellington Channel would be cleared of mines and reopened to shipping traffic by the end of the week.

The channel was mined as a security measure when German armed forces were reported poised on The Netherlands frontier—ships headed for Antwerp consequently had to detour many miles and enter the North Sea via the Scheldt River.

GOT OFF LIGHT FOR NOT KEEPING DARK
SEVEN OAKS, England, Nov. 16 (CP)—William Kennard started to get tough when two special constables warned him about a light in his cottage window and swore at them. A British Legion official testified on his behalf in court that he acquired the strong language in France in the last war when he was in charge of a team of mules. So the magistrate assessed him only ten shillings (about $2.40) and eight shillings (two pence) cost for showing a light in the blackout.

Attack Takes Place in Territorial Waters—Crew Reaches Safety But Captain Is Taken Prisoner—Royal Navy Captures Two German Ships and Two Others Scuttled

CAPETOWN, Nov. 16 (CP-Reuters).—The South African Admiralty announced tonight the 706-ton British tanker African Shell had been sunk by a German raider in the Indian Ocean northeast of Laurence Marques, Portuguese East Africa. The Admiralty said the tanker sank in Portuguese territorial waters off Zaborda Point, about 180 miles from Laurence Marques.

Although exact identity of the raider was not established, reports from Durban said it looked like an armed merchant ship of about 1,000 tons. Reports it was one of Germany's pocket battleships were denied in authoritative quarters here.

As soon as the attack on the African Shell was reported, a warning was flashed to all ships in the vicinity to maintain a careful watch for the raider.

CAPTAIN TAKEN PRISONER
Dispatches reaching here from Laurence Marques said the crew of the British ship had landed on Portuguese territory, but that the captain had been taken prisoner by the Germans.

PLAN FOILED BY FLOODS

Spring Drought and Autumn Plague Other Obstacles For Japanese

PEIPING, Nov. 16 (AP)—Devastating floods of last summer have seriously affected Japanese plans for developing North China, economic experts say.

Some even go so far as to assert North China, overnight, has been converted from an asset into a distinct liability.

The floods, combined with a spring drought and a fall grasshopper plague, left the area practically without crops.

Therefore Japan and the Chinese regimes she sponsors must import food for the stricken population. Conditions became so bad that hard-bitten Chinese guerrillas, who held parts of the territory for two years against the invaders, decided to move out entirely because they could not find food.

Extent of the floods was shown by a recent survey by Japanese airmen who reported a fertile strip of plain, roughly 300 miles long and averaging fifty miles wide, extending southwestward from Pien-tsin, had been or still was under water.

It was calculated that this meant 15,000 square miles with a population of 5,000,000 had been devastated.

ITALIAN PRESS FLAYS RUSSIA
Newspapers See Threat of Soviet Expansion Into Mediterranean Sea

ROME, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—Fascist newspapers charged tonight that Soviet Russia threatens the Balkans, the freedom of the Black Sea and consequently the Mediterranean itself.

Fascist Italy remains fiercely anti-Communist," said The Tribuna.

Renewing the bitter anti-Soviet campaign launched by The Provincial Press after certain Roman journals began to write favorably of Soviet Russia in the wake of the Berlin-Moscow Non-Aggression Pact, Italian newspapers tonight warned of the "imperialist aims of Russia."

THREATENS THE BALKANS
The Gazzetta del Popolo, of Turin, founded by Premier Mussolini, said that Russia's advance in the Baltic was but a step in its imperial progress, and that the "Western Door" has been opened to Soviet expansion which now threatens the Balkans.

(Reports from Balkan capitals in recent weeks have indicated Italy is discussing formation of a Balkan block of neutrals designed to insulate the Mediterranean area against the war and Soviet encroachment.)

"The policy of the Kremlin has lost nothing of its barbarism and anti-European virus," Gazzetta del Popolo said.

The Corriere Pavoio ironically attacked Roman weeklies for publishing articles tending to present Russia in a favorable light. It denied there was any reason for regarding Moscow differently than hitherto, and said "Italians are and will remain anti-Bolsheviks."

Huge Sums Named in Court Suit

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Powerful figures in finance were named today in a Federal Court suit against the General Motors Corporation and thirty-four officers and directors, which alleged $155,000,000 had been "misappropriated, wasted and squandered."

The stockholders' suit, brought by Charles E. Singer, holder of 1,400 shares of General Motors common, asserted the alleged waste had resulted from bonuses and stock deals between 1930 and 1938.

The report said the plane caught fire and the bodies of the victims were charred.

Britain's Food Ministry Unable at Present to Buy Here Fresh Fruits

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16 (AP)—California was hard hit today by the London announcement no more United States fresh fruits would be purchased by Great Britain until further notice.

Apples and pears were mentioned by Washington reports on the fruit ban. Information on other important California fruits was lacking.

Britain's Food Ministry said there was no money for United States fruits until vital war equipment and munitions purchases were completed. Britain was saving her cash for necessities. If credit having been cut off by the cash and carry law.

Strength of British And German Navies Compared in Annual

Great Britain Has Overwhelming Superiority in Numbers With Heavy Building Programme—Big Ships Well Under Way

LONDON, Nov. 16 (P)—Graphic figures showing Great Britain's overwhelming superiority in numbers of the German Navy were published today in the latest issue of Jane's Fighting Ships, authoritative naval annual.

Only in torpedo boats and submarines did Germany have an edge while Great Britain dominated other classifications. A comparative table follows, showing the class of vessel and the number possessed by Great Britain first and Germany second:

Capital ships—Fifteen (including two under construction); five.

Aircraft carriers—Six; none.

Heavy cruisers—Fifteen; two.

Other cruisers—Forty-three (including two under reconstruction); six.

Anti-aircraft ships—Six (including two under reconstruction); none.

Destroyers—179; twenty-two.

Submarines—Fifty-seven; sixty-five.

Torpedo boats—None; twelve.

Motor torpedo boats—Twenty-six; thirty.

Great Britain's determination to maintain this advantage was shown by a construction programme including nine battleships, five cruisers and six aircraft carriers, against Germany's four battleships, four heavy cruisers and two aircraft carriers.

SOME FIGURES SCANTY

Heavy programmes of construction by France, Great Britain and the United States were reported while scant information on new naval building was available from Russia and Japan.

In its review of Great Britain's naval programme, Jane's said four British ships of the Lion class, now under construction, are believed to be designed for a displacement of between 40,000 and 45,000 tons. Two of them, the Lion and the Temeraire, will be completed in 1943, the other two in 1944. They will be armed with sixteen-inch guns.

Five 35,000-ton battleships of the King George V class will be completed within the next two years. They will be armed with fourteen-inch guns. Six aircraft carriers under construction have a displacement of 20,000 tons and carry sixteen 4.5-inch dual purpose guns.

Figures given out at campaign headquarters yesterday indicated that for the first four days of the drive pledges and receipts from all sources totaled $61,822.24, a notable leap forward from the previous day's total, and a little more confident of the figure for the corresponding period last year.

DIVISION TOTALS

Yesterday's subscriptions alone totaled $8,420.06, the major amount in the drive.

Next in order was "C" division, with $3,054.45; "B" division with $2,993.50, making $3,995.25 to date, and "D" division with $1,832.25 for the day, making a total of $8,687.75.

"With this spirit maintained on both sides for the duration of the contest, a little more confident of complete success," said the campaign chairman, referring to the returns to date.

URGES SELF-HELP AS CURE FOR PROBLEMS for the training and employment of youth; and a pay-as-you-go policy.

The causes behind some of the unemployment of today could be traced to waste and imprudent policies, and lack of a long-range plan that would assist people to become self-supporting. Mr. Maitland continued.

As long as borrowing and emergency methods of financing were continued, the burdens of the day would be handed on to future generations, and no effort made to cure conditions causing needless suffering and unemployment.

Concentrations of population in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and lower coast towns living under industrial conditions, and conversely a large number of rural and district communities of 2,000 population and under, had created an unbalanced state between industry and agriculture. An aggressive land policy was required to cure this.

Mr. Maitland said that the municipalities and give them some of the benefits of industrial growth, and also to open up and develop the real resources of the province as a whole.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Such a plan, Mr. Maitland said, would require a vigorous highway policy, which should be clearly laid down, rightly adhered to, and controlled by an independent highway commission. If he had any slogan to suggest, he would say, "Let us go to town for the small town." As it was now, one town was dependent on another on vegetables, a third on fruit; while large gaps appeared in the farm production programme, as instances in heavy imports of hogs, butter, food, and other lines of products.

Agriculture in itself was not sufficient, and many lines could be added, suited to individual areas of the province. Payrolls and smokestacks should not be confined to a small area of the province, and the real productive areas starved for stimulation.

"What is needed is a serious and determined application to the man on the land. Let us build these rural towns up, and then we will all have a better and a more continuous prosperity in British Columbia. We have spent a good deal of time in going after business at a distance, sometimes to the neglect of opportunities at home. Let us educate the people to what British Columbia can produce, and to make use of that production to build up a stable domestic market. If we develop this policy and carry it through, we will make a start towards a new, a better and a happier British Columbia," Mr. Maitland declared.

MUNICIPALITIES WAITING

Turning to the budget, the Conservative leader said $3,000,000 had been added to the debt of the Province in the year now closed.

Despite the largest revenue in history, the municipalities had been left unrelied; while in four successive years the Government had collected $9,263,000 more than anticipated receipts, upon which expenditures and taxation had been budgeted. Provincial revenues as a whole had increased by some $12,000,000 since 1933, and outlays were still met in part by borrowings.

Knowing the condition of the municipalities, the Province had retained all of the increment in revenue, and at the same time had enlarged on provincial costs by a health commission, a fuel oil commission, an economic council, a large-scale and, in his view, a poor exhibit at San Francisco, explorations for oil in the Peace River, and by "building palaces for motor cars in the city of Vancouver," Mr. Maitland averred. Even if the Rowell Commission should ease matters for the Province, any settlement made later with the municipalities would be retroactive, and they would have carried the load unassisted.

ADVANCE NOT LARGE

A large and significant advance in the cost of living had not yet occurred as a result of the outbreak of hostilities, he stated. Food prices increased about 10 per cent, but still remained approximately 5 per cent below their 1937 highs. There had been no noticeable increase in rents, fuel or water rates, but a "very slight" increase in electricity charges followed upon the introduction of the new Federal tax.

Clothing prices had risen slightly just prior to the outbreak of war.

Mr. Pearson also quoted extracts from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Weekly Bulletin, showing that moderate reductions in the prices of a few of the more important foods, partially offset by advances in clothing and fuel, resulted in a decline in the Canadian cost of living index number from 83.0 on August 1 to 82.9 on September 1. The food index fell from 74.9 to 74.2, Easter prices for beef, pork, mutton, onions, and potatoes being of more consequence than a long list of gains which included veal, eggs, milk, butter, granulated sugar and prunes.

The extract continued: "For the first time in more than a year, clothing prices recorded an advance, the index for the September quarter being 73.1 as compared with 72.8 for the previous quarter. Higher prices for women's clothing and yard materials were responsible mainly for the upward movement. The fuel index changed from 83.7 to 83.8 following seasonal advances in coke prices in a few centres."

Mrs. Doris Perry, head of the poetry group, repeated the address she gave recently to the Women's Canadian Club on "Contemporary Canadian Poetry," and Major F. V. Acknowledgment was made of several gifts of books for distribution to local troops, and an appeal was made for further donations. These would be called for if desired.

RELIEF SCALE TO STAY SAME

Hon. George S. Pearson Replies to Saanich Request For Increase

Replying to a communication from the Saanich Municipal Council seeking an increase in the existing relief scale on account of "the higher cost of living," Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said that Government figures since October 15 indicated a slight recession in prices, and it was not considered opportune to increase the relief scale.

"There is, however, nothing to prevent the municipality giving relief above the scale set by the Provincial Government," he said, "if they feel it is necessary to do so. This amount, however, would have to be provided entirely by the municipality."

Mr. Pearson said that an accurate record of living costs had been kept by the Government for the past two or three years. A special inquiry was made for the two months from August 15 to October 15, and G. Neil Perry, director of the Bureau of Economics and Statistics, had presented a report on it.

ADVANCE NOT LARGE

A large and significant advance in the cost of living had not yet occurred as a result of the outbreak of hostilities, he stated. Food prices increased about 10 per cent, but still remained approximately 5 per cent below their 1937 highs. There had been no noticeable increase in rents, fuel or water rates, but a "very slight" increase in electricity charges followed upon the introduction of the new Federal tax.

Clothing prices had risen slightly just prior to the outbreak of war.

Mr. Pearson also quoted extracts from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Weekly Bulletin, showing that moderate reductions in the prices of a few of the more important foods, partially offset by advances in clothing and fuel, resulted in a decline in the Canadian cost of living index number from 83.0 on August 1 to 82.9 on September 1. The food index fell from 74.9 to 74.2, Easter prices for beef, pork, mutton, onions, and potatoes being of more consequence than a long list of gains which included veal, eggs, milk, butter, granulated sugar and prunes.

The extract continued: "For the first time in more than a year, clothing prices recorded an advance, the index for the September quarter being 73.1 as compared with 72.8 for the previous quarter. Higher prices for women's clothing and yard materials were responsible mainly for the upward movement. The fuel index changed from 83.7 to 83.8 following seasonal advances in coke prices in a few centres."

said the chief danger to the Campbell settlement lies in the possibility of a jam forming upstream, then breaking and allowing a rush of water to come down.

HIGHWAY WASHED OUT

Officials of the Campbell River Timber Company, Limited, at Garret, B.C., ten miles north of Campbell River, said the highway between the two towns was washed away at several places and that the main

Mrs. F. G. Berton, the president, announced that the local branch was sponsoring a short-story contest for young people who had been resident on Vancouver Island for three years. Stories should be postmarked not later than December 31, 1939.

Constable N. M. McAlpine, of the British Columbia Police detachment at Campbell River, said the highway to Courtenay was opened late yesterday for daylight traffic only.

He said rain was still falling heavily and that there was little hope of the flood receding overnight as the river continued to rise slowly.

Flood waters at Courtenay continued to recede and British Columbia Police said the situation there was "much improved."

FIGHTING FOR BRIDGE

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 16.—The Works Department is putting up a great fight to save the River Bend Bridge from going out.

This bridge crosses the Somas River and is the sole span for the road which leads to Sprout Lake and Great Central Lake, and should this be washed out, it would mean the isolation of about 250 persons at Sprout Lake and about 300 at Great Central Lake.

A crew of men with motor trucks has worked all night dumping rock and planting sandbags. Another crew took its place today. The rain ceased on Wednesday, but started again last night and has been pouring heavily for the past twenty-four hours. Huge trees are being carried down the river, and unless the rain ceases within a few hours, great damage and hardship may result.

SEARING RECORD

Harold Bishop, of Sprout Lake, reported that the lake was within three inches of the highest flood on record, and was still rising.

At Ty's Auto Camp, well known to many Victorians the water had reached the windows of some of the cabins; while the basement of Bishop's General Store was flooded. Mrs. J. Wark, who operates the well-known Summer resort of the lake, was prepared to leave for California, but is held up by the flooding of the roads leading to her home. Auto camps and homes along the Somas River in the city of Alberni have been flooded.

PATRONAGE

Mr. Mackenzie King has given an undertaking to the country that political patronage will not be exercised in the distribution of war orders; presumably, too, this means that party followers will not be given jobs in war work, to the exclusion of others. Dr. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, now makes the accusation that patronage is being exercised, despite the Prime Minister's promise. There is not a shadow of doubt that Dr. Manion is right. The lay observer in any community where war work is under way knows of incidents of patronage; knows that politicians are pulling the strings to secure work for party followers; knows that undertakings are being carried out in a manner which calls for impartial investigation; and knows, too, party proclivities continue to seek to take advantage of governmental expenditures.

The Prime Minister welcomed the co-operation of the political opponents as promised during the late brief session of the Federal Parliament. He asked for united support, which would imply that he was willing to consult with Dr. Manion, for one, on the plans for co-operation in the war effort. He has not consulted with the Conservative leader, which would indicate that he does not consider this a part of co-operation. His conception of what co-operation means is, to an extent at least, one-sided. Now Dr. Manion has pointed out to the Prime Minister that patronage continues, despite an official promise that it would disappear during the war. If Parliament were in session, it is unquestionable that a committee would be appointed to investigate the abuses that prevail. It is not in session, and the presumption is that nothing will be done. It is doubtful, in any case, if an investigation would do any good. What is wanted for national effort is a National Government that is above the reproach of engaging in party politics and in party patronage. So long as there is party government in a time of such crisis there will be party methods employed, and the taxpayers' money will be wasted in the official desire to gratify political heeled.

WHY LABOR OPPOSES HERR HITLER

Reactionaries in this Province, tainted no doubt by their friendship with Russia, oppose Canada's full participation in the War. They want it circumscribed to an economic basis alone, because economics only are the yardstick of their mental measurements. These reactionaries rejoice in advocating Socialism, tinged with a pale, pink hue of Red Communism, and their attitude towards the War to resist aggression has changed, like that of the small group of Communists in Great Britain, since Russia proved herself an aggressor nation. The radicals here are wholly unlike the adherents of the Labor Party in the Motherland. The difference is in one way understandable, for here the radicals embrace in their ranks those drawn from many different countries. In Great Britain the Labor Party is almost altogether of one race and one blood, and therefore its patriotism in times of crises overshadows its radicalism. It believes, in fact, that freedom is a prerequisite of any and every economic betterment.

Mr. Hugh Dalton, M.P., has put the case for Labor in Great Britain in succinct form. He says that the movement entered this War for two compelling reasons, for its own self-preservation and for the sake of human liberty and brotherhood. Then he went on to say: "The victory of Hitler over us would mean, first and foremost, the suppression of all the Labor Movement stands for—trade unions, co-operative societies, the right of free speech, of voluntary political organization, of democratic election. All these institutions have been brutally destroyed in Germany. In Austria, in Czechoslovakia, and now in Poland, there are few in Britain who cry 'Stop the war.' 'Stop it now without conditions.' In this country they are free to speak their minds. In Germany they would be shot like dogs, or horribly tortured and misused in Hitler's concentration camps. If we were to stop the war now on Hitler's terms, when would it start again? As soon as it suited his purpose to break his word once more. No one believes Hitler's promises any more. We want peaceful deeds, not worthless words from him now."

FINLAND

The campaign against Finland in Russia's controlled Press is an earnest of the Soviet intention to enforce its demands, either through military or economic pressure. The negotiations between the two countries have reached a deadlock. Russia demanded naval and military concessions from Finland to round out her programme of domination in the Eastern Baltic Sea, and to insure domination, as well, of some of those States with coastlines on that sea, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania surrendered to the Russian claims. Finland is offering opposition. Finland was a part of the Russian Empire from 1810 to 1917, and for six centuries previously had been under the rule of Sweden. It was from the latter country, not from Russia, that the Finns derived their religion and, in the main, the foundations of the civilization that they now enjoy. Their leanings are towards the Scandinavian countries, not towards Russia.

Despite denials from Moscow, there is little doubt that one objective of the Russians is to secure the Aland Islands, at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, for naval purposes. The desire is to control that gulf, through which so much of Sweden's merchant shipping passes. Those islands, though belonging to Finland, are chiefly populated by Swedes, and, therefore, Sweden is concerned about their future. The Russians, too, want some small islands in the Gulf of Finland lying opposite Leningrad; want the port of Hango and Finland's only port on the Arctic—Petsamo. The object of the latter acquisition would be to establish Russian contact with Norway.

Russia is unlikely to relinquish her demands, and the only question is the method she will employ to enforce them. Moscow knows that Germany is so preoccupied that there will be no outside opposition to whatever course she decrees. There is determination to enforce strengthening of the Soviet position in the Baltic Sea, a plan dictated by the desire to be in a better strategic position when the time comes that issue must be taken with Germany. Despite their rapprochement, the Russians do not trust the Germans, and vice versa. Russia is consolidating her position in preparation for a future war on her eastern front.

FAREWELL TO EROS

The humor of the British people remains unimpaired in the strain and stress and sacrifice of such a War as this. It even finds expression in the staid columns of The Times, that journal which embodies more than any other, in peace or war, the solidity of the race. There are, says that great newspaper, a few sceptics remaining who ask with testy sarcasm whether there is a war on or whether there isn't. They remain unconvinced by Eros having abandoned topicals. They should be convinced, it believes, by the removal of the statue of Eros from Piccadilly Circus, for, as it says, "London is the hub of the universe, and Piccadilly Circus is the hub of London, and Eros is the hub of Piccadilly Circus. How, then, can the universe revolve when its hub's hub is missing?"

The Times finds consolation for some household in the fact that wherever Eros is to be given a resting place for the duration there will be no burdening complication of having to provide house room for his mother as well. "That would be the last straw; for if ever a woman was a slummock about the house it was Aphrodite. She wouldn't even keep her own son in order, let alone get up early and give a hand with the scrubbing. And, besides, think how the village would talk. Why, don't even know who the child's father was. . . . Aren't (Most women have an eye for a soldier). Hermet?" You know what those travelers are, Zeus himself, some say. (Oh, well, a royal command is a royal command). But the person I feel sorry for is that poor hard-working husband of hers, Hephaestus. "And I don't think, Miss Moscov," I said to the blighting officer, "that I ought to be expected to associate with women like that. . . ."

THE VOICE OF THE EMPIRE

If my work is over and if in vain, I had hoped at the close of life. That peace would fall with the evening, not passion and hate and strife. I can still give thanks as my sun goes down for one treasure of passing worth. The faith that was staunch to the Motherland of her sons at the end of the earth. When she called, then, I into council and their splendid answer came. Their pledge in an issue greater than conquest, profit or fame. That people should live in freedom, unfettered in word or thought. And hold the land that their Fathers held and the faith that their Fathers taught. From the Isles of all the Oceans, from the North to the tropic sun. We have heard our kinsmen's voices and the soul of their voice was one. She has carried the flag of freedom over many an untrampled wave. Saint George's Cross at the maethread to liberate, not to enslave. She sheltered us in our childhood, we are nations now full grown. If Britain must draw her sword once more she shall not draw it alone. With a single voice in a common cause we bid the challenger know. We stand with the Mother Country, and where she leads, we go—Rennell.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Youth has a voice. Moreover, when the day comes for youth to take over the helm on the ship of state, youth will have a fairly clear appreciation of how not to sail the ship. It will know, for instance, that if you drive the engines in the teeth of a storm, you will waste fuel, race the propellers, smash the glass on the bridge deck, and pile up costs on the voyage that no cargo revenue could match. Youth will know, too, that a course is necessary; that haphazard voyages from mirage to mirage on the horizon confuse the crew, and cancel the run in the day's log. Youth is learning, or at least that proportion of youth which is studying the ship of state, that there are limits to the range and sea-worthiness of any vessel; that coastal craft should not be operated in ocean lanes, and the reverse; that as to seamanship, youth is learning that a good bridge staff with a stout heart and a fine spirit can not only ease the watches on the crew, but get more out of the crew with the same effort. The crew of the ship of state, of course, is the public; the cargo is that very precious commodity called human welfare; and the ship itself is the physical timbers of our laws and institutions.

In recent times, however, bridge staffs on various ships of state have attempted to sail without the crew. Or they have planned long and complicated voyages on the chart room, and forgotten that the ship is still tied up at the dock. Where they have put to sea, vessels in such hands have followed erratic courses, zig-zagging from point to point to the bewilderment of the compass, and the creaking of rudder chains. They have, at times, run short of fuel when far from any port; split their sails by refusing to reef them in a gale; and generally confounded all of the rules of seamanship, including that one about taking on seasoned pilots for the navigation of treacherous waters. It is small wonder, then, that so few of these vessels have completed any chartered voyage or have been operated on a basis to permit of much profit from trading in their cargoes of human welfare. The goods in the hold in all too many cases have been damaged at sea.

Not to carry the analogy too far, let it be suggested that youth has seen these errors in seamanship, and that it will not be likely either to follow the lead of the older generation, or to repeat the mistakes of the present. Youth, precisely the same form. Youth, however, will have dangers of its own. The chief danger is inexperience; the too sudden translation from the textbook school of navigation with its laws and regulations to real navigation in the face of actual and ever-changing conditions. Youth will need its pilots, and the patience to listen to them. For it is that, no matter in what form it is expressed, the ocean of life is a vast expanse in which neither track nor trace remain to mark the passing of a vessel. It is chiefly in the log books of history that the wrecks are beaten and torn as they are—that man receives intimation of the voyages made before by mariners very like himself. Lucky are those ships which sail, not only with the pilots of history, but with the Senior Pilot of all.

The Observation Car

By THE EDITORIAL STAFF

Lansman Adamant

"Did you observe any touching scenes when the P.P.C.L. left on Tuesday afternoon?" we asked the staff photographer. "Oh, yes. A sergeant touched me for $2." was the reply. . . . A motorcycle officer whose nickname is "Cousin" is just as quick to compliment a motorist for careful driving as he is to stop one for a traffic infraction. Recently when patrolling Pandora Avenue he noticed a woman in a car courteously giving way to pedestrians and making full-hand signals whenever necessary. He followed her to Oak Bay Junction and was pleased to note that she slowed down to fifteen miles per hour at the various caution zones. At the last stop sign he complimented her on her careful driving, and she proceeded with a happy smile. "We heard two of the City Hall temporary employees discussing men in general. 'Yesterday I went to see a man whose slightest touch caused me to tremble all over,' one of the girls remarked. 'Goodness. Tell me quick. Who is he?' the other girl asked. 'Just a dentist,' the first replied. 'Our tobaccoist friend believes some men never get ahead because they use the one they have for nothing but a hat-rack.—G.B."

This Surprising War

It's not original to say that this war has produced many surprises, but footloggers of the last war must view the changes that affect the army with considerable astonishment, and wonder if they didn't serve twenty-five years too soon. No form fours, no buttons to polish, no suppers bedtimes, no long marches—in 1914-1918 that would have seemed just too good to be true. What won't seem so good to the Highlanders of Scotland who have gone into battle with bare knees since the days of the Stuart kings, is the loss of their beloved kilts. The kilts of "hoden grey" must be turning in their graves these days, and appetitive colours must be turning livid faces towards Germany, from whence first came the poison gas that now deprives Scotland of their immemorial rights. It needs no prophet to predict that somebody in the Siegfried Line will pay dearly for causing a Highlander's knees to be hidden from view.—T.T.

WAR PROFITEERING

Sir—I have just received by mail a circular issued by The Financial Indicator, 347 Bay Street, Toronto, Canada. No doubt hundreds of others in Victoria and thousands across Canada have also received this circular. It is an invitation to make money out of the war. The following are a few of the statements made:

"With the stage all set for Canada to enjoy a tremendous industrial boom as a result of war orders, you now have an opportunity to make your capital work as it never worked before."

"Indeed, you have a chance to become rich in this war boom if you have sufficient funds for employment in a wide range of 'war babies.' But, irrespective of what may be the size of your present capital, if invested in the right stocks, it can be made to double, triple and quadruple within a comparatively short period of time."

"Among the Canadian industries that should immediately receive full benefit of the demand for war materials, munitions and supplies are iron and steel, chemicals and explosives, aircraft, and heavy manufacturing."

"Within these industries are numerous companies, fifteen of which we have thoroughly analyzed for their potentialities as 'war babies,' and upon becoming a sixty-day trial subscriber to The Indicator's service you will get analytical data covering these companies."

You will also receive details concerning a little-known company which produces a vitally-essential war material that will be in big demand by the Allies, along with information relative to the market-profit possibilities of its shares."

"This stock is now selling under $2 a share, and it is our opinion that it has possibilities of becoming a fortune-maker during the course of the current European war."

"War babies" in the sense of the term as used are companies which obtain Government contracts earning such high profits that the returns are out of all proportion to the investment in equipment for the manufacture of the goods and supplies contracted for.

will not be any "war babies" earning huge profits.

Yesterday the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry left the city prepared to fight for "freedom and democracy," and while they are willing to suffer cruelly and even die that they may live at peace and freedom at home, Canadian citizens are invited to make huge profits out of the supply of the necessary equipment required for that purpose. Can there be any greater business than this? The authorities, if they are sincere, will see to it that these "war babies" will be stillborn and that the Postoffice will not be made the channel of distribution of such offensive invitations.

Little Stories for Bedtime

A Fat Beetle Helps Peter

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Such a thing as the possibility that he ever would or could be grateful to a fat beetle never had entered Peter Rabbit's head. If anyone had suggested such a thing Peter would have laughed. Yet that is exactly what came to pass. It seems funny to Peter even now, but it is so.

You see, when Peter told Jimmy Skunk the truth about what he knew of the eggs of Mrs. Slow Poke the Box Turtle he felt greatly relieved. He thought that the fact that the rain drops had so beaten down the place where Mrs. Slow Poke had dug the hole in which her eggs were buried that he, Peter, could no longer tell exactly where it was, would make Jimmy Skunk think it quite useless to hunt any more. So when Jimmy commanded him to lead the way as near to the spot as he could, Peter was very much upset.

Now it happened that they were very close to the spot. In fact, where they were sitting was within two good jumps of the place where those eggs were buried. Peter knew that, though he couldn't tell Jimmy the exact spot, it wouldn't greatly matter. Knowing that he was very close to it, Jimmy would just dig around until he found it. Peter was in a bad fix. He certainly was "I'll have to pretend that it is somewhere it isn't," thought Peter, and turned about as if to go back in the direction he had just come from.

"That won't do, Peter. You can't fool me that easily. You weren't looking in that direction when I first saw you. Now show me as near to that place as you can or you will be the sorriest rabbit ever lived."

There was something in Jimmy's voice that sent little cold chills chasing each other all over Peter. It was plain that Jimmy wasn't to be fooled that way.

"I've just got to show him. There's no help for it. I've got to show him," thought Peter. "Then he'll dig around until he finds those eggs."

Provincial Council To Carry Requests To B.C. Government

Women From Seven Local Councils of British Columbia Meet Here to Discuss Variety of Economic and Social Welfare Problems

IMPROVEMENT of the conditions for women prisoners at Oakalla, amendment of the council constitution, regulation of food prices, old age pensions, camps for the care of destitute single men, examination and treatment of children's eyes, British Columbia children's participation in International Good Will Day, and other matters coming within the organization's social welfare activities were the subject of resolutions and discussion at the meeting of the Provincial Council of Women, held in the Y.W.C.A. Building here yesterday.

The provincial president, Mrs. F. J. Rolston, of Vancouver, was in the chair, and in the seven local councils with official delegates approximately 200 affiliated societies were represented. A delegation will wait on the Government this morning to present a digest of resolutions in which remedial legislation is sought, the members being instructed to meet at 10 o'clock in Mrs. Paul Smith's room in the Legislative Building.

EXECUTIVE DELEGATES

The executive was represented by the following: President, Mrs. F. J. Rolston, Vancouver; vice-president, Mrs. A. C. Ross, Victoria; corresponding secretary, Miss E. J. Stevens, North Vancouver; recording secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Carl Grosman, Chilliwack.

Considerable time was given in the late afternoon to the discussion of a recommendation emanating from the New Westminster council concerning the formation of a women's auxiliary in connection with Oakalla prison, to bring about, if possible, improvement in the condition of women prisoners and segregation of the more incurable type of offender from those who might respond to training. It was pointed out by Mrs. Rolston, who brought in the report, that the contract for the new women's building at Oakalla had been let, and conditions might be more favorable for the improvements sought. Her recommendation included a suggestion that steps be taken to form a board.

FOOD PRICES

Nanaimo council sponsored a resolution asking for the establishment of a provincial and regional board to check hoarding of food, and discussion of this resulted in the adoption of an alternative resolution from Victoria council requesting the War-time Prices and Food Board to open public hearings to investigate the unwarranted rise in the price of food since August.

Discussion of a resolution emanating from New Westminster council concerning the inadequacy of accommodation at the Provincial hospital for blind children resulted in a decision to request the Provincial Government for improvement of the conditions.

A resolution from New Westminster council asked for the opening of competitions throughout the senior high schools of the province on the subject of peace and democracy, the winner of such contest to represent the province at a good-will celebration to be held at the Peace Arch at Blaine next May.

COUNCIL REPORTS

All seven local councils submitted reports. Mrs. H. G. Morris, speaking for Vancouver, reported eighty-three affiliated organizations, and study and discussion covering the cooperative movement, League of Nations, milk supply, increase in food prices, national housing scheme, pure wool protection, community housing, mothers' pensions, taxation, and maintenance of roads and parks.

Mrs. T. J. O'Neil read the Kamloops council report, speaking particularly of the effort made to promote classes in domestic science and the encouragement of this kind of work from the authorities, who took the view that girls should be encouraged to stay on the farms. This council had also busied itself in securing a pure water supply for the community.

Mrs. J. Somers, of Nanaimo, reported that the local council there had ten affiliated societies.

Victoria Local Council's report was read by Mrs. A. Carmichael, who stated that the greatest undertaking of the year had been the caring for the Up-Island children sent here at the time of the Royal visit. The council had been specially active in urging the establishment of a Borsari Institute for girls, similar to that at New Haven, and had actively assisted with the voluntary registration of women.

Vancouver North Shore council reported, through Mrs. J. W. Hope, interests covering immigration, cancer treatment, housing, child care, and voluntary registration. Miss Hazel Van Buren reported thirty-one affiliations in the New Westminster council, which had sponsored a household training class which graduated two groups of girls, now all in positions.

NATIONAL MEETING
Mrs. Fletcher Shaw, of Chilliwack, delegate to the National Council meeting at Hamilton, gave interesting impressions of a busy week, and Mrs. A. C. Ross, Victoria, gave a skeleton report on proposed amendments to the constitution, copies of which will be sent out to the various councils and their affiliations.

George B. Mathews, secretary of the British Columbia Board of the Retail Merchants' Association, asked the council to support further amendments to the constitution, copies of which will be sent out to the various councils and their affiliations. The president, in thanking him for his address, stated that the council had already endorsed the principle. Dr. I. Cowan, of the Provincial Museum, gave a lantern talk on museum work.

Returns to Government House

Mrs. E. W. Hamber has returned to Government House after spending a few days in Vancouver.

Gifts in "Wishing Well"

A miscellaneous shower was given on Wednesday evening by Mrs. Henry Delmas, 640 Hillside Avenue, in honor of Miss Eleanor Kissinger, whose marriage to Mr. C. H. Bell will take place today. White and pink chrysanthemums were effectively used throughout the house.

The "wishing well" and her mother were presented with bouquets of pink and white carnations. The gifts were concealed in a "wishing well" and were handed to the guest of honor by little Barbara Delmas. Music and games were enjoyed during the evening, prizes being won by Mrs. J. Girardin, Mrs. H. Gandy and Miss K. McKenzie. A buffet supper was served from a table arranged with a lace cloth and centred with pink and white chrysanthemums, lighted by pink tapers in matching holders. Mrs. J. D. Kissinger and Mrs. S. C. Bell presided at the urns. The invited guests were Mesdames J. D. Kissinger, S. C. Bell, J. Crossley, D. Webb, H. Gandy, R. Caldwell, L. Kissinger, J. Girardin, H. Yeaman, J. McAllister, W. RACE BETTING IN U.S. TAKES DECIDED DROP

Horse Race Market Crashes
All Over Continent—
Service Halted

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP).—The horse race betting market in the United States crashed today.

From many cities came reports wagering in handbooks was off from 25 to 90 per cent. But from many others came advice that bookmakers, hardy personalities of the gaming trade, were operating despite difficulty in obtaining prompt information from the tracks.

This "black Thursday" found hundreds of books from coast to coast isolated. Nationwide News, Inc., which for years has supplied them with race entries, odds, running accounts, results and pay-off prices over a vast network of wires and loudspeaker hookups, abandoned the business in the face of opposition from the Government.

A "terrible slump" was reported by Pittsburgh bookies. Some figured they would close their shops. The drop in patronage was estimated at 90 per cent in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Albany, N.Y.; at 75 per cent in Philadelphia, and at 25 per cent or more in Los Angeles.

VIRTUAL STANDSTILL
Wagering was at a virtual standstill in San Francisco. Portland, Ore., gamblers stated "Business stopped right in its tracks."

Police raided the most popular betting room in Knoxville, Tenn. Other "spots" there were idle. Fourteen persons were arrested in Salt Lake City in a drive directed by the Utah attorney-general's office. Some houses in Fort Worth, Tex., "closed for a few days." Fewer customers were visible in Milwaukee. Hot Springs, Ark., books operated at a nearly normal rate.

They received telephone reports covering all tracks. Some Chil-

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or anal hemorrhoids, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose see from The Modern Pharmacy and Chemist, Druggists, or any druggist, a package of Hemorrhoid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore tender spots. Hemorrhoid is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems the safest of pills for anyone to use an operation with a simple remedy, which is so pleasant in use, may be had at such a reasonable cost. (ADVT.)

LABOR PLEDGES FULL SUPPORT

Congress Delegation Discusses War Measures With B.C. Government

Unwavering support for the Canadian and Imperial Governments in the prosecution of the war was pledged by a delegation of the British Columbia executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada which interviewed members of the Provincial Cabinet yesterday.

A Vote of Confidence From THOUSANDS OF HOMES!

The commercial transport planes of Canada carried 135,492 passengers last year. But many, many times that number of people eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—the famous cereal that combats one of Canada's greatest burdens—constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Is there a story behind this national swing to All-Bran? There certainly is!

Years ago research started that has since piled up monumental evidence of ALL-BRAN'S ability to combat the common type of constipation (due to lack of "bulk"). Food chemists have contributed to this research, so have distinguished nutritionists. In addition, medical specialists of great universities have checked and re-checked the facts. And the verdict is the same as that of the thousands who have used ALL-BRAN over the last 15 years—a tried and proven way to combat this common ailment.

Why don't you join the "regulars"? Today no one needs to suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk." You don't need to endure it first and then try to cure it with "quick relief." The modern way is to prevent the trouble with this crunchy, ready-to-eat cereal—KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Eat it regularly, with milk or cream, and drink plenty of water. Look for the red Kellogg signature on the package. In two convenient sizes at all grocers. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in London, Ontario.

delegation urged that Canada should eliminate greed and profiteering in the production of goods, and mobilize the machinery and wealth of the nation so that the sacrifice of men and capital would be equitable.

SEEK LEGISLATION

Labor Congress requests for Provincial legislation also were submitted by the delegation, which sought collective bargaining rights for all trades unions instead of those that were established prior to December 7, 1938, as now specified in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. They also asked for a prohibition against injunctions being granted in industrial disputes until all parties had been heard.

Other points advocated by the labor men included: More public works to provide jobs for the unemployed, with a system of unemployment insurance; reduction in the old age pension, limit from seventy to sixty years, with an increase in the pension rate to $30 a month; immediate operation of health insurance; legislation providing holidays with pay for all workers; abolition of the present chauffeur's license system; and widening of the Workmen's Compensation Act. They also requested the employment of one man for each projection machine in movie theatres as protection for the public.

FOUND GUILTY IN BEER SALE CASE

Magistrate Hall Indicates Ben Pruss and Robert Welton to Be Fined $300 Today

Ben Pruss and Robert Welton were found guilty in the city police court yesterday on a charge of selling beer. Anthony Cret was acquitted on the same charge.

Magistrate Hall indicated that he would fine Pruss and Welton $300 each, but stated that he was willing to hear further argument this morning from J. B. Clearhouse, K.C., defence counsel.

Cret testified that he knew nothing about the sale of beer at the St. James Hotel, nor did he see the informant.

Magistrate Hall commented in finding Pruss and Welton guilty: "There is evidence that Welton had telephoned Pruss to secure authority to sell beer. Pruss then authorized the sale. I think the burden on Cret has been met. He was not in charge of the hotel at the time of the offence. The case against him is dismissed."

Invitation Was Signal to Leave

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 16 (CP)—Havali.—The Netherlands newspaper Het Volk reported tonight that Fritz Thyssen, German steel magnate, fled to his present refuge in Switzerland fearing an unexplained summons to Berlin meant imprisonment or worse.

According to the newspaper, Thyssen had resigned all his public offices as a sign of protest against the anti-Semitic pogroms instituted in Germany in November, 1938, following murder of a German embassy attaché at Paris.

Several months ago, Het Volk said, he received an "invitation to attend a meeting of the Council of State at Berlin. Believing the call portended trouble, he pretended he had to make a business trip and left Germany for good, the newspaper said.

APPOINTED TO STAFF OF HIGH COMMISSIONER

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Appointment of E. B. Rogers to the staff of the Canadian High Commissioner in Australia was announced today. Rogers, whose home is in Charlottetown, carried on secretarial work at Chatham House, London, in 1938 and 1937 was appointed third secretary to the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa.

According to Culbertson

A great deal of "wishful thinking" goes on at the bridge table. A hand in the recent England v. Denmark match is an excellent case in point:

East-West vulnerable.

With the Danish women's pair seated East-West in room, the bidding proceeded as follows:

North East South West
 1 NT Pass 2 W Pass
 4 W Pass Pass Pass

Obviously, five-odd at hearts was a laydown.

This was not a very good result from the East-West point of view, inasmuch as five spades could have been defeated only one trick, and as a matter of fact, was actually made through an error in defence in the offer room. The point I wish to raise, however, is that many players in situations such as East's use very poor philosophy with East's type of hand.

The fact that North's opening one no trump bid was completely unorthodox according to American conventions, is beside the point. Apparently the British prefer a weak no trump opening and presumably announce this fact to their opponents. The crux is that East, vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents, should not "relax" in the happy thought that he has beautiful defence against no trump. He should take the view that a combination of pessimism and optimism in order to provide for as many contingencies as possible. First, he should remind himself that there is no assurance whatever that the opponents will stay in no trump; indeed, their obvious weakness in spades suggests that they will veer into a suit. Secondly, East should feel that, even if the opponents do stay at no trump, the fact that he can confidently expect to beat a game contract at that denomination is not the only consideration. How about East's own chances for a vulnerable game? Surely he cannot expect to get rich by defeating a nonvulnerable no trump contract. Hence it is nothing less than logical to keep an eye on offensive possibilities.

Obviously if East bids two spades over the no trump, as he should, West will not sell out to less than five hearts. It is not out of the question that East-West will actually buy the contract at four spades, which they would make without difficulty. But, even if they are driven to five spades, it will be a worthwhile saving.

During Raid on the Firth of Forth

CHINESE CHARGED WITH BANK THEFT

Mar Leung Pleads Guilty in City Police Court—Remanded Until This Morning

Mar Leung, Chinese, pleaded guilty in the city police court yesterday to a charge of stealing $2,000 from the Royal Bank of Canada on or about March 22. He elected for summary trial and was remanded until this morning for sentence by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

Frank Higgins, K.C., acting for the accused, stated that he had interviewed Leung, who wanted to surrender and plead guilty. Mr. Higgins was also acting for creditors, and felt the accused was prepared to make restitution. He thought a way could be found, and hoped the Chinese could remain in the city until certain matters were straightened out.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, stated that other charges might be laid against Leung. He suggested the adjournment until this morning.

CAGERS AND SPORTS CENTRE STILL DEADLOCKED

LEAGUE TERMS WILL TERMINATE NOV. 23; CLUBS TO CARRY ON

Two-Hour Session at Y.M.C.A. Fails to Bring Any Agreement Between Rival Factions—Basketball Loop Passes Important Motion—Three Other Floors Are Available

With rival factions refusing to offer the olive branch of peace and good will, Victoria's muddled basketball situation, one which has arisen out of the use of playing facilities at the Willows, was still far from settled today. For two hours last night delegates from sixteen clubs of the Victoria and District Basketball League sat in on a meeting in an effort to make some progress to clarify matters and reach some amicable settlement. However, the league did take a definite stand in the proceedings when they passed a motion giving the Victoria Sports Centre until next Thursday, November 23, to accept their terms.

Regardless of how the delegates wish to look on their action, the move was nothing short of an ultimatum to the Victoria Sports Centre directors to accept the terms of the basketball loop. Failing acceptance of the contract put forward by the cage body, clubs will continue to play at the Y.M.C.A., Saanich and Esquimalt. Officers of the Victoria and District Basketball League made that fact known before last night's parley adjourned.

STUMBLING BLOCK
The chief stumbling block against an amicable settlement between the Victoria Basketball League and the Victoria Sports Centre, to the casual observer, might look quite trivial; but to the two parties concerned the items are of real importance. The league wants control of ticket sales, hiring of cashier and ticket taker, and full charge of radio broadcasts. They also suggest a sliding scale for rental of the building, namely, 25 per cent on the first $100, 15 per cent on the second $100, and 10 per cent on each successive $100, such terms to apply for exhibition games. The Victoria Sports Centre asks a 25 per cent cut of gross gates as rent, and wishes to retain control of ticket sales, cashier, ticket taker and radio broadcast.

The Basketball League and directors of the Sports Centre are agreed on the ten dollar rental for league games.

George Gordon, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, stated at the outset that a meeting was called at the request of three clubs—Wimpy's Crescents, Dominions and Admirals—who wished the basketball situation altered before the club delegates. The chairman also remarked that everybody would get a chance to speak later.

After some discussion as to the eligibility of certain persons to attend the meeting, a motion that the league abide by the constitution was endorsed. This meant that representation was confined to club delegates with only one member from each team.

PERMITTED TO STAY
Dr. Thomas Miller, a member of the Victoria Dominions executive, insisted he was entitled to sit in on the proceedings, despite a ruling to the contrary by the chair. However, to secure an amicable situation, and at the suggestion of Walter Yeamans and Gordon Woodridge, members of the executive, Dr. Miller was permitted to remain. Players who left the meeting earlier were allowed to return and sit in on the parley.

In his opening remarks President Gordon outlined the various conferences members of the Victoria and District Basketball League had with spokesmen of the Victoria Sports Centre. He told of the contracts submitted and the failure of the two parties to come to a satisfactory agreement.

W. H. Bland, chief spokesman for the Victoria Sports Centre, outlined the activities of the organization since taking over the building at the Willows, and told the delegates that the Centre directors have a lease on the premises until 1941. He said the place had been put into condition for basketball, and voiced a strong objection to the remarks of the league that the building was detrimental and injurious to the health of the players.

Three drawings-rooms, the best in British Columbia, have been installed, Mr. Bland stated, with showers and proper heating. "We gave the league a workable proposition, which would have enabled them to come out this season with a sizeable balance," he continued. At this point President Gordon intervened and informed Mr. Bland that he was attending the meeting as a delegate for the Ramblers and not as a representative for the Victoria Sports Centre. However, he was a good spokesman and a very able debater, Mr. Bland continued. "We have done everything in our power to make it attractive for basketball and if the meeting doesn't want to go up there it's all right with us," he said in conclusion.

YEAMANS REPLIES

Walter Yeamans, president of the Vancouver Island Basketball League, in replying to Mr. Bland, stated that the Victoria and District Basketball League was dealing with the same men who were responsible for having three league teams use the High School Gymnasium two nights weekly, while the Dominions had the use of the same facilities three nights a week. He told of meetings with the Sports Centre, and intimated that the Centre was wholly interested in the money they would make. Yeamans stated that the non-producing clubs in the league must have some financial assistance from the gates received at exhibition games and expressed the opinion that the Victoria and District Basketball League was justified in turning down the offer of the Victoria Sports Centre.

Dave Nicol, manager of the Victoria Dominions, wanted the minutes of executive meetings produced, but was informed by Walter Yeamans, through the chair, that they were not available. Gordon Woodridge, another member of the executive, came to the rescue with the assurance that all executive meetings had been held in a bona fide manner and properly conducted.

The meeting became a little stormy at this point and when order was quickly restored a motion sustaining the action of the executive in their dealings with the Sports Centre was carried.

Ernie Harris, a comparatively new figure in local basketball circles, rose to his feet and with an air of confidence proudly stated that

Duck and Goose Season to Open Early Saturday

HUNTERS on all parts of the Island are all prepared to invade the woods tomorrow one hour before sunrise, to open war on duck and geese. The men will lead for the flocks, sloughs, pot holes and the wide fields that are more plentiful this year than in the past several seasons. Cowichan and Chemainus side flats are expected to attract a flock of hunters, as these centres always boast of good duck hunting. Gonzales Hill officials state that the sun will rise tomorrow at 7:25, which means shooting may start an hour earlier. Firing must cease one hour after sunset, which will be 4:32 on Saturday.

the constitution of the league had not been enforced in the past, but the present executive intended to put it into use. "It is a matter of knowing if the league is going to run the league, or if some other organization is going to, as in the past. The executive is going to demand that the constitution be enforced," he said in conclusion. And most of the delegates attending the parley must have a disk of Mr. Harris meant every word he uttered.

CONTRACTS READ
Some time was spent in reading the two contracts, one submitted by the Victoria and District Basketball League and the other by the Victoria Sports Centre. Even expert accountants were called into use to give the delegates some idea of the profit the league would make by taking the proposition put forward by the Sports Centre.

A motion to accept the Sports Centre contract failed to get the required majority, and then Jack Taylor capped the evening's proceedings by moving that the Sports Centre be given until Thursday, November 23, to accept the league terms. And there the matter rested as to its probable outcome, time alone can tell.

Cupholders Rally in Third Period to Gain 3-3 Tie With Flying Frenchmen on Montreal Ice—Chicago Black Hawks Take Lead by Defeating New York Rangers, 3-2

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens failed to withstand a third-period onslaught tonight by Boston Bruins and had to yield a 3-3 overtime tie to the Stanley Cup champions in a National Hockey League game before about eight thousand fans.

The Flying Frenchmen, winners of their first two starts of the season, carried a 3-1 lead into the final period, but saw this margin vanish before goals by Bobby Bauer and Art Jackson.

Canadiens did all their scoring in the middle session, when Louis Trudel rifled home a thirty-footer, while Jack Portland was serving a minor, and Hector "Toe" Blake, the leading scorer in the NHL last season, beat Goaltender Frankie Brimsek twice in a row in the last two minutes. Dit Clapper sandwiched Bruins' first score between Trudel's goal and the first by Blake.

HAWS BEAT RANGERS
NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks moved to the top of the National Hockey League standings tonight when a pair of rookies brought them "third-period goals" in the second period.

Victory was bitter for the Hawks. They lost the services of their ace defenceman, Art Selbert, for at least three weeks when he was knocked to the ice by Bryan Hextall in the second period. He suffered torn ligaments in the right knee.

Young Doug Bentley, playing his first season in the NHL, fired what proved the winning goal midway through the third period, in which all five goals "were scored."

Chicago came from behind twice, Art Wiebe and Phil Hergesheimer wiping out goals by Dutch Hiller and Alex Shibley to set the stage for Bentley's clinching counter.

GRID SQUAD IS SELECTED BY WRITERS

Team Chosen From Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP)—New backfield stars replaced the old coaches and sports writers looked over the field today and named the Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union all-star team of 1939.

Only Bob Ivisbister, who has switched from Toronto Argonauts to Hamilton Tigers in the meantime, remained from the backfielders selected to the "dream" team last year.

Fourteen writers and coaches in Big Four cities chose the team for The Canadian Press, making Ivisbister the only Hamilton representative and Bill (Sixty-Minute) Davies the lone Montreal Royal to catch a place. Argonauts and Ottawa, who start their union finals Saturday, gained five positions each.

The team:
Flying wing: Bill Davies, Montreal.
Half: Red Storey, Argos.
Half: Bob Ivisbister, Hamilton.
Half (secondary defence): Tony Golab, Ottawa.
Quarterback: Bill Stukus, Argos.
Snap: George Willis, Argos.
Inside: Tiny Herman, Ottawa.
Inside: Len Staughton, Argos.
Middle: Dave Sprague, Ottawa.
Middle: Bunny Wadsworth, Ottawa.
Outside: Bernie Thornton, Argos.
Outside: Tony McCarthy, Ottawa.

GETS BIG VOTE
Of a possible twenty-eight votes from the four cities, Thornton received twenty-five and came closest to unanimous selection. The vote from each city was "weighted" so that equal voting strength prevailed in all.

Gone from the back division were four shining lights of 1938—Ted Morris, Art West, and Annie Stukus, of the Argos, and Murray Griffin, of Ottawa. The flying West has been out practically all season with a leg injury and Griffin has played with the handicap of a bad knee.

On the line Staughton, the Argos' playing line coach, replaced George Fraser, of Ottawa. Willis, all-East, came in as a surprise. He played in the University of Western Ontario last year, took the centre spot from Curly Moynehan of Ottawa in his first season in the Big Four.

NORMAL SCHOOL WINS ANOTHER

Defeats College Hoopsters, 15-7, for Second Straight Rugby Triumph

Playing a tight defensive game that kept the Collegian snipers out of range throughout most of the time, Normal School cagers Wednesday garnered their second straight victory over Victoria College hoopers. Played at the Victoria High School gymnasium, the game ended with the score 15-7 in favour of the Normal School aggregation.

After a ragged first half, both clubs settled down and played smooth ball. With Michael White spearheading the Normal offensive, the eventual winners outscored College, 8-4, in the second half, after taking a 7-3 lead in the opening stanza.

The third game of the interschool series will be played next Thursday at the Normal School gymnasium.

INDOOR LEAGUE TO START SOON

CINCINNATI, Nov. 16 (AP)—The new national Professional Indoor Football League, which begins play next week, was described today as "frankly an experiment" with an eye to a possible new source of big league hardball players.

President Tia Speaker and Eugene Hargrave, manager of the Cincinnati club, agreed that while a hardball player can't go to indoor ball, an indoor ball player can go the other way. "The sponsors from severely upon the use of 'softball' to describe their indoor games."

William O. Mashburn, head of the Cincinnati club, outlined a programme whereby "each team" would develop farm clubs of its own as well as seek local talent.

The league also includes New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis.

Bombers Shuffle Line-Up for Big Tussle Saturday

Coach Reg. Threlfall Forced to Make Four Changes Due to Injuries to Regulars—Calgary Bronks Will Enter the Fray With Six-Point Margin From Victory Last Week

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP)—Injuries to four key men have forced Coach Reg. Threlfall to reshuffle Winnipeg Blue Bombers' backfield for the deciding game at Calgary on Saturday of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union final.

Ordinarily prospects would be dull for Bronks' 13-7 victory in the first game here last week gave them a six-point lead in the total-points series. But Threlfall has a wealth of reserve players and Bombers give themselves a good chance to retain the championship for a third successive year.

"After all we only need a converted touchdown to tie up the series and we proved during the regular season that we can get points against Calgary when we really need them," said Joe Ryan, Bomber manager.

Ryan referred to Bombers' record of four wins in four scheduled games with Bronks this year, particularly the October 6 game at Calgary when the Albertans led 17-3 at half time. In that game Bombers came roaring back in the second half to score three touchdowns, one converted, for a 19-17 victory.

Another thriller was the Winnipeg rally against Bronks here on September 15, when Greg Kabat kicked a field goal in the last minute for a 19-18 win. In other games Bombers won 12-1 at Calgary and 25-6 here. Including the play-off game Winnipeg has outscored Bronks 82-55 on the season.

IN FINE SHAPE

Coach Dick Haughian, of Calgary, reports his men in top condition for the deciding contest, however, while Bombers definitely will be without their outside wins, Bud Marquardt, who dislocated a shoulder at Regina, October 21, and there is little chance Art Stevenson, Bill Boivin and Wayne Shiley, backfielders, will play. All three were injured last Saturday.

Threlfall plans to use Martin Platz in Marquardt's place, permitting Jeff Nicklin to move back to flying wing, replacing Stevenson. Recovery of Halfbacks Andy Bieber and Harry Badger, regulars before they were injured three weeks ago, gives him two capable men to replace Boivin and Shiley.

Bieber will do the plunging in place of Boivin, and Badger will handle Shiley's blocking chores. With the team's regular kickers, Shiley and Stevenson, on the sidelines, the veteran Kabat will do the punting with rookie Johnny Lake in reserve. Little Fritz Harrison has been "hot" in practice and is expected to be the chief offensive threat.

Carl Krisko, Percy Daigle and Al Haycock, none of whom have seen much action, although they are rated highly by Threlfall, will have their big chances as backfield relief. Krisko will alternate with Bieber.

After a ragged first half, both clubs settled down and played smooth ball. With Michael White spearheading the Normal offensive, the eventual winners outscored College, 8-4, in the second half, after taking a 7-3 lead in the opening stanza.

The third game of the interschool series will be played next Thursday at the Normal School gymnasium.

West to Oppose Rangers—City Will Meet Saanich Thistles

First Division soccer eleven will continue their Garrison Cup campaigns tomorrow and Sunday, with a trio of matches providing action for each of the six clubs in the Victoria and District Football League.

The draw will pit the first-place Victoria West aggregation against the Rangers at Heywood Avenue, and the second-position Victoria City eleven against the Saanich Thistles at Beacon Hill Park. Kick-offs are set for 2:45 o'clock.

Sunday's fixture at Bullen Park will pit Esquimalt against the Garrison, and the match will get under way at 2:45 o'clock.

With three wins in four starts, greenhorns will be expected to pick up two points at the expense of the Rangers when the teams battle tomorrow. Wests have accounted for the Garrison, Saanich Thistle and Esquimalt, and suffered their only setback at the hands of Victoria City, only unbeaten club in the loop.

Rangers, who made the jump from intermediate company to the senior in one season, have a young team and cannot be taken too lightly by Manager Tommy Restell's Victoria West squad.

Manager Charlie Lewis' unbeaten City eleven will rule favorites over the Thistles in the match at Beacon Hill. The suburbanites, with their youngest line-up in many seasons, have yet to mark up their initial triumph.

Lou Ambers Has Easy Time With Cleveland Boxer

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 16 (AP)—Lou Ambers, 138½, Hekimer, N.Y., demonstrated to between 4,000 and 5,000 Hartford fans tonight how a world's lightweight champion looks in action, winning an easy ten-round decision from Jimmy Vaughn, 136, of Cleveland, in a non-title bout.

Ambers was reported to have gone into the fight over the protest of Mike Jacobs, who is promoting the "Hurricane" welterweight title bid against Henry Armstrong in New York on December 1.

But Uncle Mike needn't have worried. Ambers came out of the fray unmarked and apparently fresh enough to continue all night.

There were no knockdowns, although in the ninth it appeared as if Ambers could have knocked his opponent out if he so desired.

ENGLAND TO FACE WALES

Football Teams to Clash Tomorrow for Benefit of Red Cross

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP)—English football authorities hope to raise $50,000 ($222,500) for the British Red Cross. A series of unofficial international matches is being played and other representative contests will be arranged later.

To date $3,500 ($15,575) has been realized and this sum will be augmented Saturday when England and Wales meet in a return encounter at Wrexham. Teams representing the two countries drew 1-1 at Cardiff, November 11.

W. R. John, veteran Swansea Town goalkeeper, announced his retirement from the game at the week-end and his place on the Welsh eleven will be taken by A. Sidlow, Wolverhampton Wanderers' reserve custodian. There will be one or two other changes in the Welsh team.

The eleven London club players who represented England at Cardiff will be replaced by men from Northern and Midland teams, in order to save expenses.

"South" clubs will be regrouped when the present schedule is completed, February 3. The football league now proposes that First and Second Division teams in South "A" and South "B" sections should form one league, and Third Division clubs operating in the two groups a separate division.

CRIME TEARS ON CAROLYN WELLS

CHAPTER XLV

Fleming Stone went back to Silver Hill, not greatly elated by anything he had learned in the village. He was fighting against a most unwelcome feeling of failure. The case was not one to be looked at as a whole. It had so many by-products and side lines that he couldn't see the forest for the trees.

Going upstairs to his room, he saw Hetty superintending the cleaning of Madison's room.

Stone, interested, stepped inside. He searched everywhere, with his eyes, but saw no item of furniture or ornament that he had not studied before to no avail.

He turned to Hetty.

"The bookcase now in the next room used to be here, didn't it?" he asked.

"Yes, sir. It stood right here, where the shifftier is now."

"And when it was moved the books were changed. Where are the old books that used to be in the bookcase when it was in this room?"

"Up in the attic, Mr. Stone."

"I want to look at them. How do I get up there?"

"There's a little staircase in the ell, that goes up to the very room you want. Wait, I'll go with you and show you the way. I've gotta go up there anyway. Miss Madison, she wants me to put this pink glass vase up there. She thinks it's too old-fashioned—here's the room, sir, and here's the books that was took off Mr. Harley's bookcase when it was moved."

A shelf of books claimed Stone's attention, and he stooped down to look them over. The room was a sort of lumber room, and was full of discarded furniture and pictures and old-fashioned ornaments. Stone delved into the books and Hetty went back to her work.

His eyes brightened as he discovered some old detective stories. He kept on until he found the one he had hoped for. An old book, published in one of the earliest years of the century. Its name was "The Mystery of Carstairs Court."

Stone smiled as he remembered how the words crime or murder were not allowed in book titles then. He rifled the pages until he found the passage he wanted. Yes, just as he had remembered; the victim in the book, was killed in precisely the same way that Harley Madison had been killed.

Craig had referred to the book. Did that incriminate Craig, or did it clear him from suspicion? Surely he had remembered; the victim in Madison's unusual, almost unique death, he would not have mentioned a source book.

Stone took the volume with him and went downstairs and into his own room.

Acting on a sudden impulse, Stone left his room and crossed the hall to Harley Madison's room again. Hetty was still there, putting the finishing touches to the now immaculate room.

"Looks nice, don't it, Mr. Stone?" she said, always avid for justly earned praise.

How It Started

WHY IS VERMONT CALLED THE GREEN MOUNTAIN STATE?

Arnold Bennett, visiting in the Spring a painter friend who lived where "Nature imitates art," confided that he, too, dreamed of painting the countryside which was "so—so—so—"

Being the noted author stammering in search of the proper word, the painter attempted to help him out, suggesting among others, "rocky, hilly, rugged, wild," none of which struck just the right note.

After a while it came to Bennett himself, "so—so green."

And "green," too, was precisely the word for the fields and hillside alive and growing, for landscape draped in verdant grassy raiment, for slopes dense with bright-hued evergreen trees—the panorama which on July 4, 1869, nooded the tired eyes of the French explorer, Samuel de Champlain, and impelled him to designate the undulating vistas that he was the first white man to drink in Verd Mont Green Mountain—an appellation perpetuated in the name of Vermont and its nickname Green Mountain State.
